

BRISTOL ORNITHOLOGICAL CLUB

POLICY ON SAFEGUARDING CHILDREN, YOUNG PEOPLE, AND ADULTS AT RISK

Our commitment to safeguarding

Bristol Ornithological Club (referred to as 'BOC' or 'the Club') recognises that a child, young person, or adult at risk should never experience abuse of any kind, and that we have a responsibility to promote the welfare of children, young people and adults at risk.

About this policy

This policy applies to all members and anyone working on behalf of BOC. The purpose of the policy is to inform BOC members and all who participate in our activities about the principles that guide our approach to protecting vulnerable people and the practical steps we will take when concerns are raised about abuse and mistreatment. This policy recognises vulnerable people as:

- Children up to the age of 16 or young people aged 16-18.
- Adults aged over 18 'at risk' – defined as anyone with social care needs. This includes adults with a learning or physical disability, a physical or mental illness, chronic or otherwise, including an addiction to alcohol or drugs, or reduced physical or mental capacity.

The policy aims to ensure that:

- Children, young people and adults at risk who are members of BOC or are taking part in events organised by the Club are protected from abuse or other mistreatment when participating in its activities.
- BOC members working with children, young people and adults at risk understand and accept responsibility for helping to safeguard those vulnerable individuals they are interacting with.

Legal framework

This policy is informed by legislation and policy and guidance on the protection of children, young people, and at-risk adults, including safeguarding, provided by the Charity Commission for England and Wales.

Policy review

The policy will be reviewed annually by the Club general committee.

BOC and vulnerable people

BOC is an organisation for adults, young people, and family members. Its principal aims are to promote the study of ornithology and conservation in the Bristol area, to organise field trips, and to encourage those new to birdwatching. The Club is run entirely by volunteers and employs no staff.

All BOC activities may be attended by children and Young people under 18 as well as adults whose social care needs define them as being "at risk". Some Club activities are organised primarily for children and young people, with the involvement of their families.

Safeguarding leads

BOC committee members with lead responsibility for safeguarding are Gareth Roberts and Di Bunniss, contact details below. Any projects, events or other activities likely to involve children, young people or at-risk adults must be planned with the involvement of one of the safeguarding leads.

Our approach to safeguarding

The Club seeks to keep children, young people and vulnerable adults safe by:

1. Listening to their concerns.

2. Applying safeguarding procedures to ensure that concerns and relevant information are shared promptly with the relevant agencies.
3. Recording and storing information that relates to safeguarding concerns in a professional and secure manner.

BOC rules concerning the participation of children and young people

Children of family members are welcome at BOC events and activities, and unless it is an activity specifically organised for children and young people, those aged under 16 must be accompanied throughout by a parent or other responsible adult who will bring the child to the meeting and take them home again afterwards. Young people aged 16 and 17 may attend the Club's events unaccompanied if they have provided the organiser with consent from a parent or guardian who has also supplied a phone number where they can be contacted in an emergency. Parents must give consent for their child to attend events organised for children and young people, and are welcome to join in.

Photography

Photography of people as well as wildlife, is an integral part of the Club's activities and it reserves the right to publish images of its events. It is, nevertheless, policy to obtain parental permission before taking and/or publishing images of children or young people aged under 18.

General health and safety

The BOC takes active steps to make its events safe for all participants by holding indoor meetings on premises that satisfy current fire regulations and other health and safety requirements. Field meetings and other outdoor activities are subject to prior risk assessment by the organisers, to ensure that physical injury and other health risks are recognised and minimised so far as possible.

Disclosure and barring certification

Leaders of events for children and young people where parents may not be present shall have current Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) certification.

SAFEGUARDING PROCEDURES

1. Neglect and abuse

Concerns about possible neglect, physical abuse, sexual abuse, emotional abuse or other ill-treatment involving a child or at-risk adult taking part in BOC events will be treated with the utmost seriousness. Unless a direct report has already been made to the police or a social care agency, concerns should be communicated without delay to the Club's safeguarding leads. After listening to the concern and making a note of relevant information, they will make a report to the appropriate agency. Anyone attempting to contact the lead safeguarding persons with a concern who finds that they are both away or not available should not delay in approaching the relevant social care agency directly (contact information below). If they believe a child, young person or at-risk adult is in imminent danger, they must not hesitate to contact the police 999. Individuals who raise concerns have the right to expect that information shared with the safeguarding leads will be treated sensitively and in confidence – but only to an extent consistent with effective safeguarding. In particular, the lead safeguarding persons have a duty to share and refer concerns relating to the welfare of a child or adult at risk as soon as possible to someone qualified to assess the information and take appropriate action.

2. Bullying

The BOC does not tolerate bullying at its events. Should an incident occur at an event, the organiser or leader should be informed as soon as possible. The parents or guardians of any children involved must be informed without delay. One of the safeguarding leads (see above) must also be informed. In addition to any action that may be taken by the relevant safeguarding authorities, the BOC committee will consider what action it should take against an individual found to have bullied or otherwise ill-treated children, at-risk adults, or other participants at its events.

3. Record keeping

All notes, reports and other written materials relating to safeguarding concerns raised with the Club are kept secure. Electronic files are password-protected.
